I used to dream that I could fly
Above and over an ordinary life
But signs of greatness seem so far
I fear I'll never reach the stars

Chorus:

And Don't let the sun set on your dreams
If your voice is a whisper, make it louder than screams
If you think yourself frail, find the giant within
And know that one voice can change the world

I never thought I'd come to fail you
I never thought I'd fall this far
Will I overcome my weakness?
And will I make it to the end?
But this world keeps tellin' me I'm incapable
I will show them all, I'm not that small
I'm not that small
I'm not that small
I'm not that small

Chorus:

And don't let the sun set on your dreams
If your voice is a whisper, make it louder than screams
If you think yourself frail, find the giant within
And know that one voice can change the world

Chorus:

Don't the sun set on your dreams
If your voice is a whisper, make it louder than,
Louder than screams
If you think yourself frail, find the giant within
And know that one voice,
One voice can change the world
