These eyes, their full of pain,
To the sea, and all alone,
Hear me cry, with tears of shame, want to die,
With you again,
And I'll speak, once, I felt the rain on your gloom,
Waiting patiently for your voice...
What's a memory (without love)?
It pains me endlessly (far away)
Yes, and I should know (for it all)
Yes, and I should go (The beautiful murder)
The beautiful murder
In the night, the falling stars, give a lust,
To candy cars,
And I feel that I don't know, what is real,
And just for show...and I'll speak
Once I felt the rain on your face,
Waiting patiently in this place,
what's a memory (without love)
it pains me endlessly (far away)
yes, and I should know (for it all)
yes, and I should go (the beautiful murder)
once, I felt the rain on your face,
waiting patiently in this place...
what's a memory without love,
show me how to win this war...
let's try...
let's try...
the beautiful murder
the beautiful murder
