Something happened to me that night I took flight and couldn't regain the ground that was once my life
I searched the heavens, but couldn't find my mind
No matter how hard I tried, it was gone Or was it my ego that kept me weak just like a pawn?
Astral travel had me looking for a new dawn, a new day
A new way to perceive reality, no longer caught in the maze
Lift the haze from your vision, open up your optics You've got to keep moving, there's no way you can stop this Lock this into your sights, even though it's so bright Let that fire ignite and let yourself feel the light Right your wrongs and stay strong Feel your heart with this song Control destiny with this recipe, though the journey is long Some say we're close to the end, I say we're not quite there yet
While others wait for a sign, I'll create fate instead Spread the knowledge around, positive movements abound
You and I can gain ground, by speaking truth through the sound

Sometimes we get caught up in all these worldly ways
But, we can fly away from here my dear, fly away from here
And I know one part of you wants to go, while the other part wants to stay
But, we can fly away from here my dear, fly away from pain
