

James Harvest Barclay "John Lennon's Guitar"

Visit "John Lennon's Guitar" on MotoLyrics.com

(John Lees)

back in the autumn of seventy on the night shift at abbey road four young men were recording a song named 'galadriel' for an album they'd call "once again" the producer was norman smith who'd engineered with the beatles and john whose guitar was to be instrumental that day when i came to play
i remember it well, as if it was yesterday
the day that i played
john lennon's guitar
i remember it well, as if it was yesterday
the day that i played
john lennon's guitar
back in the aut umn of seventy as i played on my borrowed guitar how could i know the beatles would split the next day my heroes break up and go their own way now autumns they come and they go but my friends and my memories remain and my heroes, well some of them f ell from the stage but their light still remains
i remember it well, as if it was yesterday
the day that i played
john lennon's guitar
i remember it well, as if it was yesterday
the day that i played
john lennon's guitar
i remember the day
i rem ember the day
i remember the day
i remember the day
the day that i played
john lennon's guitar
i remember the day, as if it was yesterday and i know that the memories will never fade

i remember the day, as if it was yesterday
the day that i played
john lennon's guitar

Visit James Harvest Barclay page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.