

Alana Davis

"When You Became King"

Visit "When You Became King" on MotoLyrics.com

I don't know when you became king of my dreams
I only know when you go that everything around me
Falls apart at the seams

I've never known someone so much like me
Yet you're your own and parts of you
Remain a sweet mystery

And I am falling, falling into a dream
And you, you are calling
Calling to be your queen

All the world is a stage when you're around
Everyone's acting their parts but nothing is real like
This love that I've found with you, my baby

And when you lift me up, there's no coming down
I get so high, I could float away
On a feather like a fairy crown

And I am falling

The willows howl as the lazy sleep
And the lucky stars fall away as they weep

Visit Alana Davis page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.