I never think of other girls
When she is in my world
But now I realize

I only think of her at night
I know I'm not always right
Well yeah, I am

Hello Mr. Sunshine, how are you
Won't you come inside
To light up the faces all smiling
My pride, my art, my life

Mr. Sunshine you're my friend
We share thoughts without end
Nothing to contend

And Mr. Sunshine what's your say
On this lovely hand bouquet
It makes a nice display

We spend days whittleing away
Creating wonderful arrays
With imperfection cast away

A perfect lover I can mend
With just a needle and some thread
She'll be our new best friend

Watching girls on summer days
Not one of them the same
And I'm hoping that the rain
Doesn't wash their smiles away

The judge and jury sentenced me
They gave me life at twenty three
But I blame society

They just couldn't comprehend
That I loved them 'till the end
But some they'll never find
