It's midnight now and it's freezin'
But wait...
Is this a worthless dream I believe in?
Let's take...
Another stroll
Where the kids are getting out of their minds
We'll walk in side by side
Pulsating with the stars in the sky

At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing
At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing

You are not a wave, you're part of an ocean
And you break
Without a fuss, or any commotion
When you are older and holding on
To some things that have already gone
You're making plans for tomorrow
Well tomorrow is no yesterday

At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing
At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing

Take a look at the state of all the scenery
There is nothing but hate in every dictionary
People sayin it is punishment for sin
It's a petrified forest, we're all living in

At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing
At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing
At the heart of all of this strangeness
You are changing
