I can't hold out so long and you don't seem to care.
I drove to your dorm but your room was rented out
And I know you can survive without me.
It's been 3 years and I should be used to the feeling by now.
Writing in your journal is only keeping
A record of my defeats and inadequacies.
When there's no difference between acting and living.
A square is never round. circumstances change for the better
In your pragmatic scheme.
Central arbitration.
Watch the sky.
