(J. Taglieri)

Don't give me baby, don't beg me "please"
I see just what you've been doing to me
Don't think I'm falling for all of your lies
I see right through your thin disguise
You play so tough but I think that you're mistaken
To think I'd follow any rules that you've been making
So baby take the high road away from me
Or baby take the low road, it doesn't matter to me
So just take yourself and all those lies you told
And baby do me one last thing and hit the road
I was so foolish, I was so blind
To think that akin you back was kind
But I've seen the error of what I did
Your little games are only for kids
Don't let the door hit you on the way out
Bye bye, so long, ahh what's that little pout about
So baby take the high road away from me
Or baby take the low road, it doesn't matter to me
So just take yourself and all those lies you told
And baby do me one last thing and hit the road
So baby take the high road away from me
Or baby take the low road, it doesn't matter to me
So just take yourself and all those lies you told
And baby do me one last thing and hit the road
