You and St.Jude you will become best of friends
She sits there talking, warmly of Jesus again
And I'm in the summer breeze dreaming only of breeding
You know me and you, we will become best of friends

Every once in a blue moon
I will see you again in my dreams
And I'm siiting there right in front of you
The mountain range is your backdrop again

Beautiful sunrise wipe your eyes rail down again
A new day has come, patrant saints show us the way
You know me and you, we will become best of friends
Desperate cases with lonely faces and we still smile
One more time
