When you stepped out
My walls crept closer
Felt four years colder
As you walked from the picture
Morning comes waiting
To hear the words
Judgment's not coming
No hope shown sidebound to learn and find all the light you reserved

We learn the lesson
But can't find the words
Silent for knowing
How much it hurts
Last wind cutting
Through those in turn
No trace for a lost dance
Who never got what she deserved and you hurt worse than you deserved

They couldn't hold back again
Thought they'd mean to hold you safe
Counted off until they fell
When you're thrown, when you're thrown you can't help but wonder "If I'd only..."

It still feels like it failed
Still pictures of sad days
Took place and took better places
Better places you deserved
You hurt worse than you deserved
