

Joey Summer "Written On The Horizon"

Visit "Written On The Horizon" on MotoLyrics.com

The signs were shown slowly through the times of suffering
I let the time to make me a prisoner of my own fears

chorus

Now that time has come and dreams are gone
My faith is written on the horizon
The daylight shines in the paradise
The wings of angels will hide my heart...

And all I knew was dramatically changed forever
It is a huge fight and a rampant step for inside changes

Now that time has come and dreams are gone
My faith is written on the horizon
The daylight shines in the paradise
The wings of angels will hide my heart...

There are no wonders in the night
So I've been searching for the light
And what is written will to come Now it's a matter of time and you will to know what to do

chorus

Now that time has come and dreams are gone
My faith is written on the horizon
The daylight shines in the paradise
The wings of angels will hide my heart...

Visit Joey Summer page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.