"Before The Rain"

Some voice has told me
Â«you will walk on but never come
Dream on there's still a wayÂ»

I sing drowned in its echo
Tryin to remember what's my song
And my tune just went wrong

Oh left alone while time is moving on
I don't know that way
I'm here and scent of rain is coming down
And my shirt I gave away

May love become our fate
Melting the ice of hate
Drowning all cities and lands

And though all's not the same
Life is the single cutting pain
When they begin to blend
