Do you remember Marilyn when she lived at number 24?
A pony-tail and ankle socks, just a future of a girl next door
Now she will surprise you
Open up your eyes to visions of a new delight
I really got to own up Suddenly she's grown up overnight, watch her food now

Um-um-um-um, um-um-um-um
Um-um-um-um, um-um-um-um
Ooh-oh-oh, oh-oh, oh-oh, oh-oh

Do you remember Marilyn?
She came first in every grade at school
A proper intellectual, she would never break a single rule
Yesterday I saw her happy as a girl and dancing in the cabaret
Hardly would have known her, mother would disown her anyway
See her dance now

Um-um-um-um, um-um-um-um
Um-um-um-um, um-um-um-um
Ooh-oh-oh, oh-oh, oh-oh, oh-oh
