Walkin down an alley
With the one that I adore so much
'Till the unexpected touch
That changed everything
It turns my expectations
And leaves a torn in my compassion
It is supposed to be a beautiful day
Can't feel anything but numb
Blood on the ground
I can hear my heart thump
When I see her lifeless body
Bleeding on the ground
My teardrop is useless
No one could save her life
They took my precious one away from me
This wound inside my heart will always
