consider confrontations this is a shy and quiet morning the sleeping dogs awoke last night the thunder scares them, stiff eyed exercise (your exorcisms) anger down (bleeds the same) autumn night,
stay soft and cool
come morning light
i'll be gone

step tears and tired of watching they're filing out the big top doors i'm buried in the smell of circus those dark clouds are rolling in drunken mouth (kitchen smile) please summon me softly to sleep today i've seen a dragon on the ripped and worn out armrest stay back the skin is laced with sticks of dynamite i'll be burning out like a shooting star a thousand pretty lights of silly singing feelings i should be on trial
for everything i haven't done
