She said she never meant it when she said that she wanted me dead
And those plans that I found under the bed, they were all in my head
I could've been happy, I could've been sad Well I can't remember so it can't be that bad

She's been using my fears for rubbing my nose in
And she's been saving my tears for washing her clothes in...it's a sin

Life couldn't have been kinder to me if it tried and it tried Except perhaps if I had more than 20p and my mind wasn't fried Perhaps I feel happy, perhaps I feel sad
I can't tell the difference so it can't be that bad

She's been using my fears for rubbing my nose in
And she's been saving my tears for washing her clothes in...for washing my clothes in and dipping her toes in, for washing her clothes in

Have you got it yet?
Can't she take 'em to the launderette?
