Ah you're breaking my heart, are you breaking my heart?
Well you're cruel and you're mean and you're tearing my scene apart
You're looking so good, when you're prowling the 'hood
Ah your smile really blows my mind and it boils my blood.

I said you were brazen, you said you were shy
I said "Isn't that amazing!" you said I could say goodbye

But you're breaking my heart, and when you borrowed my light you returned it and it was dark.

I said you were brazen, you said you were shy
I said "Isn't that amazing!" you said I could say goodbye

But you're breaking my heart, and when you borrowed my light you returned it and it was dark.
My poor half empty, aching plenty heart.
