"Straight Line"

Man and space and matter
Mathematics and the mind
The bodys growth nutrition food and drugs
Sound and hearing vision and light
Wearing glasses with a fake nose thick black eyebrows and mustache
Try my best to hide from these things but I know that it wont last
Paradise lost your eye
How bizarre you finally are
I feel sorry for you I do
You need some help it's clear you do
Lying in the tub the lights are out
The phone is off the hook
Have not been outside for weeks
Feeling more and more ugly
Maybe I should go away for a long time
And not tell anyone where I am
And not come back till I am living again Psycho doctor sing my song this world and I don't get along
Angel why can't you walk a straight line
Angel why can't you walk a straight line
Even with open invitations I know no one will show
They have other places to be that's how my goodbye stories go Careening car just passed you by it always hits some other guy
Babys crying cause mothers dying
I don't know what's left to say
Angel why can't you walk a straight line
Angel why can't you walk a straight line
