The tension in the chain was about to break
And the gears and the wheels had all they could take
And the pressure in her head went crazy and freaked
And now she laughs when she tries to speak
Button down white, collared shirt she wore last night
Is lying on my floor
Complicated friends wanna know what's in store You've never seen anything not like this, not again, for sure
Tired of this energy uncertainty it's killing me what for
The heaters will hum when the furnace is done
And the auto-pilot light passes out in a tub
The lens is stopping down and there's film in the tanks
Try to freeze motion before the moment goes blank
How could you ignore
I've seen the way he looks at you
When telling all those lies...
Are you impressed my dear
You've never seen anything, not like this, not again for
sure
Tired of this energy uncertainty is killing me what more
With a wedding at the harbor with the best of tuba players
And the admirals little navy is all lined up like good sailors
And Annette and little Frankie ditched the beach
And came a running straight away
To say goodbye at high tide have a nice life
I'm thinking please, but Im saying no Lost somewhere between Gravity and the stars
A barstools growing cold
And a piano collects scars
Incase we rode too far
I keep a pillow in the car
While on radio and late t.v is our heavy wet rotation dream
Never seen anything, not like this, not again for sure
Tired of this energy uncertainty is killing me what more You've never seen anything, not like this, not again for
sure
Tired of this energy uncertainty is killing me what more

Say goodbye at high tide have a nice life
I'm thinking please
