Boy is it fate that brought us together? We met at a dance, when I was dancing with your best friend, we didn't know what to say, we just talked to your best friend! Fate has its ways, somehow, somewhere, when I met your best friend I knew the break up was for a reason and here you are, in front of my nose! Now for awhile, I've been thinking about our history, trying to see why fate put me with your best friend first, but I've found out now! I know what plan fate has for us now! Go ahead, just ask me the question you're dying to, cause I know you wouldn't get over me, listen to what fate has been saying ever since we met! Oh, when I see your face in the clouds, I know that fate did what it had to do, for us, now we know we are meant to be!

Oh, fate was right all this time, who knew we'd be here writing songs for each other! Oh, fate!
