

Mother Mother

"The Sun Woke The Whole State"

Visit "The Sun Woke The Whole State" on MotoLyrics.com

Thanks for the ride to the airport
My hand got stuck out the window
And it felt so good cuz it never had
I caught a look on my way home

When I got out you were there
Knocking the front door
The cold gets in the things you wear so good
It's that time again

Thanks for stopping by the river
So I could run to take it for every day we wake
Here's one to remember the first day of October

When I got out you were there
Knocking the front door
The cold gets in the things you wear so good
It's that time again

It don't mean much
We never had a chance
We're out of touch
The space between us spells it out
It don't mean much
We never had a chance
We're out of touch

When I got out you were there
Knocking the front door
The cold gets in the things you wear so good
It's that time again

Visit Mother Mother page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.