Here we are,
Spinning in circles again,
We are
Young enough to think that we can

But nobody is to blame,
Funny how things don't change at all,
But I keep thinking
Maybe we'll be good someday

And we'll find another window
With a different point of view,
And we'll wake up here tomorrow,
Expecting something new,
What are we thinking,
are we really thinking it through?
Or is this just another chapter
in the book of me and you?
Yeah, the book of me and you

I turn the page,
Thinking I can turn this around,
The page,
Every wall that's up must come down,
Funny how it never does,
Trying to make it like it was,
It won't work, but I keep thinking,
Time will make us strong enough

And we'll find another window

With a different point of view,
And we'll wake up here tomorrow,
Expecting something new,
What are we thinking,
are we really thinking it through?
Or is this just another chapter
in the book of me and you?
The book of me and you

I keep on looking back
And every place I go seems you were there,

It makes me laugh
That we're still crashing into nothing
And I swear we always end up where we started

Here we are...

And we'll find another window
With a different point of view,
And we'll wake up here tomorrow,
Expecting something new,
What are we thinking,
are we really thinking it through?
Or is this just another chapter in the book of me and you? (3x)
It's the book of me and you...
