I fell asleep last night (I fell asleep last night)
But I woke up too late (I woke up too late)
And everything I loved (Everything I loved)
Oh I begin to hate

I know I sound repetitive
Cause I'm repeating myself
And I'm competitive
I want you all by yourself
And that alone is just the problem
I've got these woes
I just can't solve them

If I could gather up the nerve
I'd put my feelings into words
And if I weren't so young, or stupid, or restless
I might be able to just soon forget this
Just forget this, just forgive this, just forget this

Please just forget me
When I'm out all alone on the east coast
Please don't forgive me
When you're home all alone
And you need me most
Oh, and you need me most
Yeah, when you need me most

Oh, if I only had the heart
To find out exactly who you are
You know I'd try now

But it's just fine
No you can't save me
It's no fault but mine
Please just blame me

If I could gather up the nerve
I'd put my feelings into words
And if I weren't so young, or stupid, or restless
I might be able to just soon forget this
Just forget this, just forgive this, just forget this

Please just forget me
When I'm out all alone on the east coast
And please don't forgive me
When you're home all alone
And you need me most
Oh, and you need me most
Yeah, when you need me most

Oh, if I only had the heart (6x)
(The nerve, the words, you'd think by now, I would have learned)

Please just forget me
When I'm out all alone on the east coast
And please don't forgive me
And you need me most
Yeah, you need me most
Oh, and you need me most
