and when the sun goes down your memory still hangin' around inside this honky tonk where I think of you the flashing light shine bright and sparkle in the night and my heart turns to neon blue

I see your emerald eyes
and your ruby lips on mine remembering all the love that we once knew red dress hangs on the door black high heels on the floor

what a cold, cold sensation
from night into day
temptation, temptation
has taken you away

you're memory still hanging 'round leaving my heart a neon blue turning my heart a neon blue
