my baby loves the things I say she wants to hear them every day I hope we'll be together from now until forever right now we're just one step away my baby wonders why I'm blue when she pretends that we are through so I'll just have to show her that once I get to know her then we won't be one step away and if she knew that I was hurting inside then soon behind my broken heart I could no longer hide I want to kiss her every night but not til everything is right she will not wait forever she says it's now or never
right now we're just one step away one step away, one step away
