Im running in the rain
On a dark and cloudy day Wondering if your here
What I have to say
I cant seem to slow down when i worry about you
And i'm running, i'm running to you

I wanna see you falling so i can help you up catch you at the bottom push you back to the top
I cant seem to slow down when i worry about you
And i'm running, i'm running to you

Im running throught the music Stepping on each note im running through the pictures playing everyones role i running to the top im running to the bottom i'm running, i'm running to you

Running from the fear of not knowing where to go from the question i dont ask and the answers i dont know im running through myself and through everybody else And im running, running to you so im running, im running to you im running till this world becomes a better place im running not to lose this human race im know i can make it when im holding your hand so im running, im running to you

Im running and im breathless but i have to go on these steps are the beat and im sing this song Hear it on the stereo where you are and im running, running to you to you im running from the past and from all my mistakes im running and im sorry if I cant say in one place no where i can go that can stop me from running so im running, running to you to you

im running not to lose this human race
im know i can make it when im holding your hand
so im running, im running to you

these steps are the beat and im sing this song Hear it on the stereo where you are
and im running, running to you to you

im running from the past and from all my mistakes
im running and im sorry if I cant say in one place theres no where i can go that can stop me from running so im running, running to you to you
