do you plan things out?
do you fool around?

do you like the dark?
do you trust your heart?

i can tell when you try not to show it.
when you go and pretend not to notice.
but i know that you know that i know this could be

let me in,
let it show,
we both know that no one waits forever.

do you chase a high?
do you feel alive?

do you lose the light?

'cause i know when you're reaching your lowest,
who are, how you try to get through it.

tell me when,
let me in,
let it show,

tell me when,
let me in,
let it show,

do you plan things out? (do you chase a high?)

worth hurting for

i wanna know if i'm reading you correctly
or if every instinct that i have is wrong.

but i've come so far
and of all my scars,

but i don't belong in the dark here all alone.

but i've come so far

always searching,

'cause i've come so far
and of all my scars,
