"Bad Idea"

I'd like to tell you all my bad ideas
I hang them with the good
To dilute the awful truth
I've been asleep for nearly 15 years
All the dreams I've ever had Out weighs the life I'm not yet living I've felt along the walls of here and there But nothing ever seemed quite right
So I kissed off into the night
There was a thought
There was a bleeding thread
But nothing ever last that long Within the confines of my head

I'm here to tell you I'm not okay and all those things I can never say out
Loud
I wanna tell you there was never anyone I believed in more than you
I wanna know if there was anyone you ever believed in more than me

I'll terrorize the seas of way back when This little heart of mine has drunk It's weight in blood red wine
A little lost a little out of time
But as the years begin to creep
I have to hope that I'll be fine

I'm here to tell you I'm not okay and all those things I
can never say out
Loud
I wanna tell you there was never anyone I believed in
more than you
I wanna know if there was anyone you ever believed in
more than me

I'm here to tell you I'm not okay and all those things I
can never say out
Loud
I'm here to tell you I'm not okay and all those other things

I'd like to tell you all my bad ideas
I like to hang them with the good
To dilute the awful truth

I wanna tell you their was never anyone I believed in more than you
I wanna know if their was anyone you ever believed in more than me
I wanna tell you their was never anyone I believed in
more than you
I wanna know if their was anyone you ever believed in more than me
