"Throw Down"

To be lost in a state of confusion
No sence of direction, you cant be found
Far from the truth of the semisonic youth
But its all the same, Its all the same to me

Thats what you say when you're falling down
Thats what you say when you throw down with me
Thats what you say when you're falling down
Thats what you get when you throw down with me

With open arms you embrace abrassive action
[you looked up?] verbal voilence your thoughts unsound
You wear the message on your face, I wipe it off without a trace
Because I'm all the rage, I'm on the rage again

Thats what you say when you're falling down
Thats what you say when you throw down with me
Thats what you say when you're falling down
Thats what you get when you throw down with me

If you
Could see
That its all the same to me
I cant
Believe
You could mean those things you say
But the harder I keep running
The harder I keep running
The more you wast my time

Dont look now but your friends are not around
To protect the words they gave you to be just like them
You say the words "fuck you" and yeah I've got a message too
Hey, were all the same, were all the same as you

Thats what you say when you're falling down
Thats what you say when you throw down with me
Thats what you say when you're falling down

That's what you get when you throw down with me

If you
Could see
That it's all the same to me
I can't
Believe
You could mean those things you say
I can't believe the things you say
I can't believe the things you say
I can't believe the things you say
But the harder I keep running
The harder I keep running
The more you waste my time

If we can't get along
We'll have to find a middle ground
If we can't agree then we disagree
About the the same things we believe to be Too friendly to you
Nothing but messages, paper planes
Members only, and memories end
In the end
The end

(If you
Could see
that it's all the same to me
I can't
believe)
You could mean those things you say
But the harder I keep running
The harder I keep running
The more you waste my time

To be lost in a state of confusion
No sense of direction, you can't be found
Far from the truth of the semisonic youth
But it's all the same, it's all the same to me

That's what you say when you're falling down
That's what you say when you throw down with me
That's what you say when you're falling down
That's what you get when you throw down with me
