There's a storm crawlin in Black clouds movin in real slow
There's a song in my head but I never wanna let it go

The sun is going down buried deep into the sea
Remind me again
Now just who I'm supposed to be?

The rain is falling
The rain is falling
The rain is falling
The rain is falling

There's blood on my hands from the thorn on the side of a rose There's a tranquility
But I'm petrified and turn to stone

The fire's going out and the hours they are growing old
The rain's falling down and the pain's flowin through my bones

The rain is falling
The rain is falling
The rain is falling
The rain is falling

The rain is falling
The rain is falling down

The rain is falling
The rain is falling down
