There once was a shining star that came to me and lit the sky to every path I found

But now that gift is free
It fills me up and lifts me way up where the heavens drown

It takes me high
It makes me high

Never believe the lies
Now that you realize who you are

There once was a witching hour that promised me to show the grace of every sight and sound

But now it's lifted me
I've spoken up
And risen way up where the heavens drown.

It takes me high
It makes me high

Never believe the lies

On and on and on and you're the only one that never breaks and
on and on and on and you're the only one that never breaks.

Never believe the lies
Now that you realize who you are
