"The Way We Go"

Why do we live, love, hate hurt, regret and forgive?
Why do we cry and
laugh and eventually die?!

Nothing is in vain but our wisdom has its roots in pain.
Though we try to flee can't escape this path of destiny. Things we've said and done will remain although we're dead and gone. That's the way we go like a river
to the sea we flow.

We're balls in a game of forces that cannot be tamed.
But we will melt
with the stars and the universe and we'll go home to the womb of mother
earth.
