Drink to your hate to your life to your lost loves and to the ones you never had / Celebrate every mistake you've made and see this smile remains but the pain will fade /
You cry these tears because you're broken hearted / Let life put colour in your dreams you make them real because /
This time, with your back against the wall and with the bruises of the fall, you're gonna take it all. This time, spread your wings be led astray / You're in despair because you're disillusioned. We 're taking turns in being strong to make it through, I know / This time, with your back against the wall and with the
bruises of the fall, you're gonna take it all. This time you'll stand straight and you'll be strong take your dreams where they belong 'cos when you dream you can
't be wrong /
And all of your dreams that you thought were too bold have frozen to statues so cold.
