

Moonages

"Wish"

Visit "Wish" on MotoLyrics.com

Every smile has turned into a frown /
Every green has faded into brown /
Every peace has turned into a fight /
Every day has turned into a night /
And the world, once colourful and free, is caving in and all comes down
on me /
so why should I keep going on? /
Still words remain unspoken, feelings left unfelt /
So I take this token and throw it in the wishing well /
I wish I could come clean again /
I wish I could recall the time when everything was all right /
Every time I laugh every time I smile, telling everybody that I feel fine, it's a lie /
Every love always had to go /
Every friend has turned into a foe /
And the world is empty all around, for I see the things I gave but not found /
So why should I be hopeful now?! /
Can I free my mind from all I've left behind / Loves of every kind and still it seems as though I'm blind /
I'll do the hardest thing forgive myself for everything I am for

Visit Moonages page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.