Settle Down

Norma it ain't no use
Your little boy is outta control
He's got a burning fuse
He's got a broken circuit

Started out way back when
You took him to his first rodeo
Those little eyes lit up
That little heart was sealed in stone

Mother just let him go
You can't stop the rain from falling
He's gonna ride that colt
And one of them's gonna end up broke

And honey what a price to pay
All that work for all that trouble
Before you accept your fate
Love the man or walk away

Oh yeah, yeah, whatcha gonna be when you grow up?
Where you gonna be when the sun goes down?
Will you ever quit when you've had enough?
Oh, oh, oh, oh

How in the world will you find your way
When the lovin' is good but the lovin' won't pay?
Where you gonna go when the lights die out
And the dust has settled down, settle down

Papa couldn't understand
Why he had to leave the station
Taught him how to work the land
"Boy, your dreams ain't worth the chasin'"

And up until the day he died
The bible could not ease his sorrow
Cursed his passion and cursed his pride
These are the final words he cried

Oh, whatcha gonna be when you grow up?
How you gonna be when the sun goes down?
Will you ever quit when you've had enough?
Oh, oh, oh, oh

How in the world will you find your way
When the lovin' is good but the lovin' won't pay?
Where you gonna go when the lights die out
And the dust has settled down, settle down

Oh, oh, "I said whatcha gonna be when you grow up?
How you gonna be when the sun goes down?
Will you ever quit when you've had enough?"
Oh, oh, oh, oh

How in the world will you find your way
When the lovin' is good but the lovin' won't pay?
Where you gonna go when the lights die out?
And the dust has settled down, settle down

Whatcha gonna be when you grow up?
How you gonna be when the sun goes down?
Will you ever quit when you've had enough?
Oh, oh, oh, oh

How in the world will you find your way
When the lovin' is good but the lovin' won't pay?
Where you gonna go when the lights die out?
And the dust has settled down, settle down

Settle down, settle down
Settle down
