

Melanie Hammet

"Faith In Me"

Visit "Faith In Me" on MotoLyrics.com

another hour in another day i speak in all directions what i think they want to hear me say another day becomes a lost and lonely night and i don't understand why nothing feels right then a voice comes echoing in - into the dark and then the voice echoes in my head and these are the words it said - CHORUS
why don't you put down your guard why must it be so hard to have a little faith in me, have a little faith in me another black night becomes another grey dawn i'm waking with the feeling i've already done something wrong trials and errors 'til i make it home again and i'm feeling my resistance wearing paper thin (then a voice)
i hear the words - i get out of bed i can't sleep with all this noise in my head i find my feet leading me down the hall where i stop - look in the mirror - hanging on the wall then i recognize the voice i'm giving myself a choice more trust - a little less doubt is all i've been talking about - talking to myself about why don't i put down my guard why must i make it so hard to have a little faith in me?

Visit Melanie Hammet page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.