Ive always wondered what a life would be like without you i didnt think that i would survive but now ive found out its true im not supposed to love
i wish i didnt care
but everytime i needed someone.. you were always there i cant help myself all i do is cry my bodys weak and helpless i cant even try its like my world is over while my life is alone i need you to help me keep warm
im not supposed to love
but everytime i needed someone..
