so heres where i'v erred; heres what i'v done. found a crack in my glass, but it was pretty empty to start. so out with the old, and bring on the new. because to fix what i had was a pretty hard thing to do.

but she said i found a lot of oysters these days. yes, i found a lot of oysters these days. and with all comes a pearl and a pretty hard shell to brake. well, i found a lot of oysters these days.

i look to the sun, but im closing my eyes. though my mother had said it, i was quick to look into the sky. and all though the pain, i swore that i'd try. and with big sunglasses, she stood up there firm by my side.
