It's a night light in my hallway as ancient as the swing drifting gently in my own backyard it's a crypt behind the highway a landmark for the locals that make love behind the parking lot it's a corner of my being a mirror to myself that explains the reasons i can't think it's a fountain of excitement a river of suspense monumental springs that i can dream

we are not lost
we are not following trails there's so much more the say if we stopped ourselves then we would fail at what is meant to be

it's a window in your basement that shows the time of day when your watch is in the factory it's a lonely dirty alley suburban effigy used by neither criminals nor thieves climb across your boundaries let yourself be taken away to the invisible points on the map all the famous attractions before they fall and wither away they all go home

and we stay out to play

it's the colors put together of fall and itchy sweaters burning pumpkin spice that makes smile it's a walk along the grasses away from all the masses that gives us a chance to think a while

(instrumental)

na na na na na na na na x14

before they fall and wither away
