Daylight breaks and im all alone this big bed, in our old home is empty

Somethings missing, but its not me pictures still framed so i can see their memories

of a time that used to be now its all just history

you broke my heart into a million pieces said goodbye for all the wrong reasons think of other things, but i feel the pain and im already ready, for tomorrows rain fix some breakfast, make an extra plate this big table where you once ate is haunting lay on down and i stare above this big couch where we made love reminds me

well ive moved on, now the skies are blue talk to god, and he told me to go out more, and meet new friends find you a women youl love till the end and i cant forget all those sleepless nights thinking of you i stayed up and cried remembering the fun we had then but ill never forget.....hmmmmm when you broke my heart into a million pieces said goodbye for all the wrong reasons

you crushed my heart, and you shattered our dreams ruined the plans for a family and i dont think i could ever feel the same so im already ready yea im already ready yea im already ready for tomorrows rain
