I hear you starting up again
I seee you standing on the deck
I hear your voice start to carry
I see the veins throbbing in you neck

And I know what you're saying
And I know what you're saying it for
But I'm not listening
I'm not listening anymore

And I see you come toward me
I see the sun withdrew from the sky
I hear your voice getting stronger and louder
And I see a stranger in your eyes

And I know what you're saying
And I know what you're saying it for
But I'm not listening
I'm not listening anymore
