When I ask you to look at me

You look away.

I ask you to tell me something nice once.

You come at me with all your hot lights on display.

I know you're changing.

Damn you.

I know you're changing.

God damn you for that.

When the snow stacked up outside,

You looked around.

I could see you from the window.

I could see the snow coming down.

I know you're changing.

Damn you.

I know you're changing.

God damn you.
