They followed their youth, and where did it get themÂ...
Swallowed their pride, then spit them and left them.
Nothing to dangle on their, rear-view mirror, just an Empty bottle, of 2 week old beerÂ...
The tide, well it crushed them, straight to the bone,
They reach for their baggies and pipes, instead of their homes.
It swelled up and swallowed, all of their dreamsÂ...
The year that it took them, was 2003, ya it was 2003Â...

And theyÂ're, all burnt outÂ...
Well the light, itÂ's so small, hardly see it at allÂ... and its all..
All burnt out, all their thoughts that were dreams, have now torn at the seams, theyÂ're burnt outÂ...
---V2----

Said it was mother, who got up and left himÂ...
Little did he know, she had a good intentionÂ...
He drank all the money, he smoked all the bills
When times got rough, heÂ'd be off to the hills.
I bet he didnÂ't know sheÂ'd be gone to see, what should have happenedÂ...
Back in 83Â', oh back in 83Â' and heÂ'sÂ...
---chor--- HeÂ's all burnt out.. well the light itÂ's so small, hardly see it at allÂ...
And heÂ's, all burnt outÂ... all his thoughts that were dreams have now torn at the seams, heÂ's burnt outÂ.... - into solo Â- All burnt outÂ... All burnt outÂ...

He was a product, of the Vietnam conflictÂ...
Signed up for peace, but war is what got him.
The scars that are there, from the rockets red glare,
In the bottle he stares, thinking back on 63Â'Â...
thinking back on 63Â'..

And heÂ'sÂ...
---chor--- x 2
