(Formerly named Solution Sequence)

Questions are answered before they are asked

Why are you so vague?

Birthstones and pendants are signs of what we've made

I answer politely cause I believe that my soul remains together with many who pretend that they're the same

It's never been easier to kill the light in your eyes

It's never been easier.

So I kept myself with confidence to keep you

But mindless songs and words and paragraphs and Everything that breaks apart

Is folding overconfidence to weak tunes

Paper and words are still much the same in the way that they bend

And crush my feet

I know you've got your eyes on all my wasting

I know you cant help but detain me from my actions

I ask you with restrain what you want of me

Protect me now from a rebellious brain

Somehow I fear I know You

Can I graft myself into you?

But whats done is done

isnt it.

This is my solution sequence

let me obey You

This is my solution sequence

no more folding to weak tunes weak tunes
