

New Howard "All The King's Men"

Visit "All The King's Men" on MotoLyrics.com

Pull the cracker
Read the joke
Before it goes up in smoke
Bite the bullet
Lift the lid
But the hammer falls to a higher bid
It doesn't matter, doesn't matter anymore
'cos everything must shatter, shatter when it falls
And all the King's horses and all the King's men
Couldn't put my heart back together again
So change your colours
Chameleon
Won't you lay your dreams out in the sun
And put your head back deep in the sand
When there's a problem you don't understand
It doesn't matter, doesn't matter anymore
'cos everything must shatter, shatter when it falls
And all the King's horses and all the King's men
Couldn't put my heart back together again
You tell me you still care
But it's just a coat you wear when it suits you
Well it's see-through
You've nothing left to lose
It's time to light the fuse and run, run, run away
You're gonna live to love another day
It doesn't matter, doesn't matter anymore
'cos everything must shatter, shatter when it falls
And all the King's horses and all the King's men
Couldn't put my heart back together again

Visit New Howard page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.