Demolition Girl
You're running out of time
Everything you touch turns to dust
Like the ruins in my mind
Demolition Girl
Of my bruised and battered pride
You've no more bridges left to burn
And nowhere left to hide
Demolition Girl
You broke my world in two
Took that heart of yours and like a steamroller
You drove it straight on through
And every time you go you take from me
One more thread of my sanity
And each time you walk away
I come undone, I come undone, I come undone.
Demolition girl
You've taken all that I possess
Now like the emperor in his brand new clothes I'm just a fool
Standing in my nakedness
Demolition Girl
You broke my world in two
Took that heart of yours and like a steamroller
You drove it straight on through
And every time you go you take from me
One more thread of my sanity
And each time you walk away
I come undone, I come undone, I come undone.
