Everything is forever
But, nothing feels, nothing feels the same
Everything, just everything is for better
That's the only way I can explain

How many summers In front of us?
How many loved ones left behind?
How many cups of coffee in front of me?
How many friends..still alive?

Everything I want from you
Is everything I want from me
Everything I do for you,
Is so everything I do for myself (me)

Winter comes and winter goes
Kingdom rise and kingdom falls
You and I like a living proof

Everything is forever
But, nothing feels, nothing feels the same
Everything, just everything is for better
That's the only way I can explain

How many stories and how many glories?
How many children died in vain?
How many mothers and how many brothers?
How many friendsÂ...still alive?

Everything is forever, but nothing feels, nothing feels, nothing feels the same
