Cast upon my hands, driven down by the everlasting torch
This is an overburdened heartache, this is a life of no return
So look at me as I talk to you, this prophecy can never be redeemed
Theres no remorse, this is the life that was given to me.

Jump to the sound of guns and drums, let armageddon reign in fear Spit us out and throw us away, hear our voices disappear Knock us down like a tower of cards, supremacy was never an open gate Tonights the night you'll watch us dig our graves

Look around you, there's noone to here you scream tonight.
You can't run away so accept your fate What's left of this endless eternity, today's the day to end all fucking days

I've cherished these memories. look what it's doing to me
You made me feel like I could fucking fly, but now I'm crashing to the ground Can you feel me, can you see me now, can you hear me, would you listen anyway

And now I see that your thoughtfulness has been replaced by this loneliness And I can't remember the last time a sacrifice was as much as this
The price was too much for me, I never expected to end up this way, can't you see that I'm trying to be everything that you wanted for me

I've asked you nicely, I'm not asking again, would you give a life if it wasn't yours to live x 2

Your getting closer now to walk with the dead.

On your knees pray me forgiveness to let you live.

It's only when we realise what we have that we run away.

The echoes of your voice are drowned at sea

Along with these memories

None shall remain

Nothing stays the same
