I wrote our names on the wall
And every time I got back there again
I ran and checked to make sure it was still written
I drew a heart and a tear
You know I wanted the whole world to know
About our love embedded in our teenage storm

I will always love you
That's what you said
That's what I said

I kissed your lips and your soul
And you taught me dirty games to play
Two butterflies dancing close to the fire
You were knowing that I'd had to go
And that we were two liars together
Two liars together

Refrain

I wrote our pain on the wall
And every time it's raining there again
Our tears fall are wiping away the letters
You know that we were two liars together
